Hi Christine:

I just write back to provide detail reason why we appose this project which is made by my neighbour.

1. The stairs including the railing in occupy all their side way.It block the entrance of their backyard so they need cross my property to enter the backyard since this stair been finished;

2.On the other side of the neighbour's house , their air conditon is installed alredy and the side way is more narrow .So that also make it impossible to make that left side path way become the entrance to their backyard.

3.We feel unsafte to waking through the side way while there's a big hole open tho the basment,especially in the night all in the winter with ice,althrough it's not on our property.

For all the reason above, we oppose this project. Also, we saw all the basment entrance for this style of house in all located at the backyard but not at the side path way.

We request it can be reomved and recover to the orginal appreance by our neighbour's own cost.

We have no comments on the shed in the backyark mention by the report.

Thanks
