Background

Data Privacy Week

Canada and many countries around the world recognize Data Privacy Week the last week of January each year.

Data Privacy Week is endorsed by the Privacy Commissioner of Canada; it highlights the impact technology is having on privacy rights and underlines the importance of valuing and protecting personal and corporate information.

For the Office of the City Clerk, Data Privacy Week is an opportunity to highlight key issues, the role of the Office, and the resources that have been developed to foster awareness of privacy rights and obligations.

Right to Know Week

Right to Know Week is a national initiative in Canada celebrated annually during the last week of September. Endorsed and supported by the Information Commissioner of Canada, the week is aimed at fostering awareness about the importance of access to information, government accountability, and transparency.

Right to Know Week is a recognition of the vital role access to information plays in a vibrant democracy, allowing citizens to stay informed and participate in the decision-making process.

Proclamation
Data Privacy Week
January 28-February 3, 2024

WHEREAS, the City of Vaughan strives to ensure accountability and transparency while protecting the personal information and privacy of the public; and

WHEREAS, Access and Privacy staff in the Office of the City Clerk, handle requests for information from the public, give advice to City staff on access and privacy topics, and act as the City's contact with the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario; and

WHEREAS, the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario (IPC) provides oversight of Ontario's access and privacy laws which establish the rules for how Ontario's public institutions, including municipalities, may collect, use, and disclose personal information; and

WHEREAS, Canada and many countries around the world recognize Data Privacy Week the last week of January each year. What began as Data Privacy Day on January 28 to commemorate the 1981 signing of Convention 108, the first legally binding international treaty dealing with privacy and data protection, has now been expanded into a week-long initiative; and

WHEREAS, Data Privacy Week is endorsed by the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, it highlights the impact technology is having on our privacy rights and underlines the importance of valuing and protecting personal and corporate information; and

WHEREAS, for the Office of the City Clerk, Data Privacy Week is an opportunity to highlight key issues, the role of our Office, and the resources we have developed to foster awareness of privacy rights and obligations.

It is therefore recommended:

1. THAT, the City of Vaughan proclaim January 28-February 3, 2024, Data Privacy Week
2. THAT, the City's Corporate and Strategic Communications department promote the passage of this resolution on the appropriate corporate communications channels.

Proclamation
Right to Know Week
September 23-29, 2024

WHEREAS, International Right to Know Day was first introduced in 2002 in Sofia, Bulgaria, at an international meeting of access to information advocates. The purpose of this day is to raise awareness among citizens of their right to access government information, while promoting freedom of information as essential to both democracy and good governance. Since 2002, Right to Know Day is celebrated around the world on September 28. In Canada, Right to Know Day extends to a week of celebrations; and

WHEREAS, Right to Know Week is a national initiative in Canada celebrated annually during the last week of September. Endorsed and supported by the Information Commissioner of Canada, the week is aimed at fostering awareness about the importance of access to information, government accountability, and transparency; and

WHEREAS, the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario (IPC) provides oversight of Ontario's access and privacy laws which establish the rules for how Ontario's public institutions, including municipalities, may collect, use, and disclose personal information. The IPC plays a crucial role in safeguarding citizens' rights to access information, ensuring the protection of personal data, and promoting transparency in the public sector, all of which are essential elements of an informed and democratic society; and

WHEREAS, Right to Know Week is a recognition of the vital role access to information plays in a vibrant democracy, allowing citizens to stay informed, participate in the decision-making process, and hold public institutions accountable; and

WHEREAS, the City of Vaughan is committed to promoting transparency, open government, and the right of its residents to access information held by public authorities; and

WHEREAS, the City of Vaughan has been a leader in embracing the principles of open government and transparency, consistently working to enhance the availability of public information and striving to be at the forefront of best practices in this regard; and

WHEREAS, the City of Vaughan recognizes that providing access to information is not only a legal obligation but also a fundamental right that strengthens public trust and enhances civic engagement.

It is therefore recommended:

1. THAT, the City of Vaughan proclaim September 23-29, 2024, Right to Know Week;
2. THAT, the City's Corporate and Strategic Communications department promote the passage of this resolution on the appropriate corporate communications channels.
