4. The WHO's 8 Friendly Dimensions: Insights & Opportunities

Vaughan and CHATS working together to further the 8 dimensions of Community Life

Outdoor Spaces

Insights

- Most outdoor spaces geared to children and families: physical, and sensory accessibility required for older adults, particularly those who are frail and use canes, walkers, and have visual and audio impairment etc.
- CHATS Wellness Programs (and other community services) serving diverse and often isolated clients need accessible, senior friendly outdoor spaces

Opportunities

- Wellness initiatives and how can we expand joint CHATS/Vaughan initiatives
- Outdoor spaces for Wellness
- Outdoor spaces for ADP programs that currently have limited space, including funding for accessibility renovations
- Design of “play spaces/equipment” that accommodates all ages
- Community gardens with raised beds

Transportation

Insights

- Both caregivers and clients need support to navigate the municipal transit system
- Weather, vehicle (bus) accessibility, walking to/from bus stops create risk and anxiety for frail/older adults
- PSWs/frontline workers need access to reliable and timely transportation (enabling them to support multiple clients in a given day) to support older adults in the community

Opportunities

- Partnership and funding support to train caregivers and clients with transit system
- Provide bus shelters and seating for weather and safety
- PSW cost to travel subsidized
- COV and CHATS "Uber"

Housing

Insights

- Many homes are not conducive to multigenerational families
- More affordable/accessible housing needed with many older adults struggling
- Aging in place - 2-3 storey homes not safe for aging in place
- Adaptation needed to support safety within homes

Opportunity

- Continue to advocate for our older adults' populations together
- Leverage development industry interest through incentives
- Naturally Occurring Retirement Communities (NORCs) - Integrating assisted living and wellness programs to create supported communities that promote ageing in place
- Purpose built design with community spaces within the building
- Provide resident subsidies for adaptation

Respect and Social Inclusion

Ageist Attitudes in COVID times— McMaster & Trent University (2021)

- “The news surrounding COVID-19, especially when it comes to older adults, has been bleak.
- Recent reports indicate heightened ageist attitudes towards older adults. News stories flag the deplorable living and working conditions in long-term care facilities, while older adults living at home seem to be forgotten. “

Questions we ask ourselves after many months of a pandemic:

- Are clients comfortable and confident to attend in person programming?
- Where will the funding come from to continue virtual programming?
- How can we jointly support a post COVID environment?

Communication and Information/Social Participation Community Support and Health Services

Insights

- Lack of current information in community spaces and municipal offices;
- Pictures, larger font sizes to make it easier for older adults to access. AODA compliance enhanced
- Increased virtual programming needed
- Western York Region OHT initiatives focused on older adults with complex needs
- Adult Day Programs and Community Centres missing the “in-between older adults”
- Volunteers on hold during the pandemic.

Opportunities

- Vaughan and CHATS collaborating on virtual programming
- Vaughan could seek a more formal connection with the Western York Region OHT
- Develop and support more joint programming together for example Elder Abuse
- Exploring other programming levels and supports for older adults and those with disabilities or age related illnesses
- Working in partnership in promoting where we need volunteers

5. Visioning

What has been exposed during the pandemic?

Tragedy of LTC demonstrated the need to invest funds to support people to remain in their own homes

ADP remained open to provide much needed respite support

Decline in both mental and physical health and wellbeing

As COV OATF moves forward we need to have a more formal ongoing linkage with the team so CHATS and other community partners are part of their team.

Advisory committee to be used as another lens for policies and programming. Broader older adult needs not just accessibility issues.

Subsidizing PSW support

Continue to partner on new initiative ie: Building on Snow removal program success
